TRIP COMPANION

Trip promise and route phases

Let the state-line and Lowcountry approach explain why this is more than a direct transfer between two historic cities.

Route phases

- [] Savannah - southern historic-city launch.
- [] Hardeeville / Ridgeland / Point South / Gardens Corner / Jacksonboro - choose one route-texture or junction pause.
- [] Charleston - major payoff and possible northbound hinge.

START Savannah Historic-city launch.	MIDDLE Lowcountry approach One intentional pause or landscape decision.
FINISH Charleston Major city anchor.

Backups, pacing, and what to cut first

The printable should never be more authoritative than the live guide; use current checks for anything time-sensitive.

Backup choices

- [] Hardeeville - state-entry logistics.
- [] Ridgeland - compact town-center reset.
- [] Point South - U.S. 17 / I-95 orientation.
- [] Gardens Corner - U.S. 17 / U.S. 21 route-choice cue.
- [] Jacksonboro - ACE Basin / Lowcountry context before Charleston.

Pacing posture

Direct city pair, slow Lowcountry day, or first leg of a longer Route 17 northbound trip.

Route distinction

The middle should add texture, not become a scavenger hunt. Charleston needs enough arrival time to function as the payoff.

If the day runs long

Cut extra rural pauses first. Keep one meaningful Lowcountry decision and protect Charleston time.
